Extra Credit Wesbot Activity

I used the Wesbot for about 45 minutes during breakfast this morning and got some very helpful answers related to the class.

1. My experience was good, I asked questions pertaining to the class such as how to upload my site from VSCode to Github.io. The bot responded with a lengthy answer that addressed each necessary part of the question. The bot was also self referencing the previous questions which made it feel like a real conversation as opposed to googling the answer.
2. I think that the bot was a very effective stand-in for office hours, and like Chatgbt it was a personable conversation.
3. I was surprised how useful the bot was. I am trying to be critical but it was honestly a great experience.
4. I'm very excited to see this kind of technology in the future, for instance if I was working late at night I could reference the bot and know that the information it is feeding is pertinent to the class.
5. I thought this whole process was super interesting, and I had know idea that someone could make their own Chat Bot and it was super impressive.
6. Yes.
